FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky as second class mailable matter.

GEORGE A. LEWIS.

Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, MARCH 12, 1883.

Come in, Jeff, and get your papers.

Chickens, geese, fish, and oysters at Banta's.

The concert of Prof. Bachholzer, at the Capital Hotel Wednesday evening, was well attended.

Talk is cheap but there is no flour equal to J. E. M. Don't let anybody talk you into paying as much for an inferior flour as you have to pay for J. E. M. Price $4 00 per 100 pounds.

The call for a conference of the friends of education to meet in this city on the 5th of April, is attracting a great deal of attention and the meeting will doubtless be very largely attended.

Mrs. Maria Church, for many years a highly respected and greatly beloved resident of this city, died at Kirkwood, Missouri, Monday morning, after a confinement of many months with paralysis. Her old home, the house at present occupied by Mrs. Jane Page, is one of the old landmarks on the South Side.

Sam Keys, colored, went into the dry goods establishment of Mr. W. T. Runyan Wednesday afternoon and represented that he was an employee of the E. H. Taylor, Jr., company and purchased a lot of goods, promising to pay at the end of the week. As soon as Mr. Runyan had an opportunity to examine the pay roll of the Company, he found that Keys had lied to him, and forthwith had City Marshal Hogan arrest him for obtaining goods under false pretenses.

Mr. Henry Crutcher, formerly of this county, nephew of Messrs. Washington and Lafayette Crutcher, a young man well known in this city, died at the Standford Hotel, in Louisville, at five o'clock Wednesday morning, of pneumonia. The deceased was a member of the Louisville Legion and while at Grayson contracted the cold which resulted in his death. The remains were brought up on the morning train Thursday, the funeral took place from Grassy Spring Church, the same day, and the body was laid to rest in the family burying ground on his father's old place, in Woodford county. The deceased was a handsome, manly fellow, and when the soldier boys passed through this city on their way to Grayson, he remarked how well he was looking. At the time of his death he was employed in the Comptroller's office of the L. & N. Railroad.

Belle Point.

*Mr. Thos. Deakin is learning the carpenter's trade under Messrs. Terpin & Allison.

Judge W. L. Pence was very sick the first of the week, but has about recovered now.

Miss Alice French, of the Forks of Elkhorn, visited her cousin, Mrs. Judge Pence, this week.

The Council failed to meet Tuesday night last, on account of the illness of the Mayor. The meeting will be held next Tuesday night.

Mr. Jno. Harrod, School Commissioner, has bought a lot in South Frankfort and will soon begin the erection of a dwelling on it. Messrs. Terpin & Allison have the contract.

Our Marshal is enforcing the town ordinance that forbids horses from running in the streets, which is a move in the right direction, for in one or more instances children have narrowly escaped being run over, while playing on the street.

Says a prominent horseman, in giving his opinion of Vanderbilt's mare, Maid S., whose great feat at Chicago put her at the head (and doubtless the tail) of the "Turf": "In my opinion the time is not far distant when a two minute 'gait' will be recorded."

It will certainly be the case if horsemen continue to use Kendall's Spavin Cure, as it brings up the joints, removes all inflammation, and in fact has made a complete revolution in the horse business.

The steamer Fannie Freese is doing a good business, notwithstanding the City of Frankfort is cutting rates at a fearful rate. The competition promises to be very lively.

Miles' Crystal Flour is sold at $3 75 per 100 pounds, and is guaranteed as good as any patent flour sold in the market, except the J. E. M.

Dr. B. T. Wood, formerly of this city, but now of Columbia, was in the city Wednesday, having come up for the purpose of assisting in returning to the penitentiary Brice Robison, an escaped convict, who was sent from Anderson county for horse stealing, about six months ago. The Doctor is looking well and expresses himself as very well pleased with his new home.

One day last week three valuable horses belonging to Peter Smith, of this city, got out of their pasture, and in wandering around went up to the residence of Mr. Daily on the Oxenton pike, about two miles from this city, when some dogs got after them and ran them at a full speed against a barbed wire fence around the premises of Mr. D. M. Woodson. The force with which they struck it tore the wire from its fastenings and it became entangled in their legs, threw them and in their struggles to get free their breasts and legs were terribly lacerated by the barbs. Persons who saw them afterward say that they presented a sickening spectacle. This should be a warning to farmers who have valuable stock not to use this kind of fence unless they place a plank at the top, so that their horses can tell where the fence is.

Miss Mattie Long has returned to her home in Frankfort from a visit to friends in this town.

Messrs. Benj. Thomas and Will Marrs, of Alton, graced the village with their presence last Sunday. Come again, boys.

Mrs. Sue Pratt, of Lexington, was in the village visiting friends last week. Also Messrs. Millie and Minnie Williams, of Frankfort.

Last Monday, March 5th, 1883, the Bridgeport school teachers were invited to partake of a splendid lunch prepared especially for them by the pupils, in honor of their birthday. Words fail to express fully the gratitude he feels for this appreciation of his services. May the richest blessings of heaven ever attend the dear children.

Married.—At the residence of the bride's father, J. W. Jackson, Esq., March 8th, 1883, Mr. E. P. Garrett, of Illinois, and Miss Anna Jackson, Elder George Darrie officiating. The bride is one of Frankfort's most charming daughters, being possessed of all the qualities that go to make up the perfect lady. The groom may congratulate himself on having secured so valuable a prize. We are assured, however, he is well worthy the trust thus committed to his keeping. The best wishes of the entire community for their future happiness and prosperity follow them to their Illinois home.

FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.

The young people of the neighborhood were very hospitably entertained at the residence of Mr. Owen Tapp on Wednesday night. It was a candy pulling (the candy being made of maple molasses) given by his accomplished daughter, Miss Ella. While she was entertaining her guests Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mayhall superintended the making of five gallons of pure maple molasses into candy. At least fifty persons were present and all seemed to enjoy themselves to the fullest extent.

As Miss Ella contributed so much to the pleasure of the party, we naturally came to the conclusion that it was congenial to her nature. Judging from the success her party gave, you may rest assured her path through life will be strewn with odorous flowers. It was an epoch in the history of parties long to be remembered.

The parlor was graced with about twenty of the prettiest young ladies that Frankfort county could possibly produce. In addition to whom was Miss Lena Smith, a beautiful and accomplished young lady from Shelby county, who was greatly admired, especially by one of our young K. M. L. boys. But the boys were not handsome at all, only in their own imagination were they pretty. Notwithstanding the mud road, and the upsetting of a buggy in the darkness of the night, all was soon overclouded with the things of the past. All enjoyed themselves, even if difficulties were encountered. The party separated as the clock told the hour of two. In the meantime the moon had risen from the eastern horizon in all her splendor, to furnish light for all who made their way homeward through the beautiful maple grove. All pronounced the social one of the most pleasant of the season.

The candidates for Representative of this county spoke at the school last Wednesday evening to quite a small crowd. They both made a great effort to secure the votes of those present, and seemed to be in favor of having the public school fund increased. Gravelle, who is situated about 12 miles from here on the Kentucky river, is quite a thriving little village. It contains one store and grocery conducted by Dr. G. W. Lawrence, one grocery conducted by A. Parker and a hotel of scholars kept by G. W. Lawrence, and all are nice, clever gentlemen, and seem to be doing a very good business.

During the recent high rise in the Kentucky river there was considerable damage in this part of the State. A great many people living along the river here had to vacate their homes and lost a great deal of tobacco, corn, lumber, and cordwood. It is not more than one half attending damaged about $200; Mr. Wm. Long about $100, and others not so much.

Died.—On the 21st, of January, Mr. Jesse Fears, who lived at Sadieville, Scott county, died after a lingering illness of 17 days with pneumonia. The corpse was brought to this neighborhood and interred in the family burying ground on the 24th of February. He was 43 years, 3 months and 11 days old; was a member of the Methodist Church, and leaves a wife and two children.

Mr. Editor: Please give me space in the columns of your paper to express a few thoughts in regard to the common schools and the Legislature. As I have been a teacher in the common schools for the past six years, I feel that I know something about the condition of the school-today. Out of so many thousand children reported by the census I do not think I would miss it very far to say that there is not more than one half attending school, notwithstanding the private institutions of learning, with perhaps an average attendance of 40 pupils entitled to admission in the common schools, now if this census were being taken in the State, the advantage to the State would be very great, but the most regular attendants are usually the young children.

None of them attend a whole session without learning the English alphabet, others come winter after winter without ever acquiring greater proficiency than to spell long columns of words which they never learn to write. In some schools the mystery of long division is never mastered, the pupils do not know whether the seat of government is at Washington or Frankfort, and not one of them can tell what race often they belong. Now the youth of our State cannot be educated if they remain out of school. This proposition must be the basis of all reasoning and all legislation on the subject of education. Provisions already exist in every county in the State for the free tuition of every child within the pupil age. If only one-half of the children in a given district attend then one-half of the money provided by the State is wasted.

Absenteeism from the schools is the foundation of general backwardness in the State, and until the Legislature aims at the abatement of this evil its attention to the common school affairs is likely to be unproductive or good. The present common school system is complete in its organization, from the State Superintendent to the district trustees, but it does not give the children the education of the heart without receiving any benefit. I have used two books and never found anything that gave me so much relief.

Mr. JENNIE HESS.

BALD KN-8. March 5, 1883.

Editor Roundabout:
In your last issue appeared a letter from D. P. Bentley, written from Mitchell, Mo., which he makes charges against me, which are nothing more nor less than a tissue of falsehoods from beginning to end. In the first place, he says J. L. Greenwell and his son, A. J. Greenwell, organized a band of klunkers to run him out of the neighborhood. This is a contemptible lie and I dare him to deny it. The statement that J. L. Greenwell had eliminated the village that he was in the Asylum is likewise untrue, as Mr. Richard Clark was the man who said he saw them there.

If A. J. Greenwell fired a number of shots through the school-house, as Bentley charges, why did he not tell the grand jury about it when before that body instead of swearing that he was in Henry county at the time, and knew nothing about it. The truth is, he was at Mr. Allen's when the shooting took place, and he knows it. As for my attempting to run his school, that is another of his lies, as I only attended the school two weeks and then quit because he was such an ignorant fool. He dared his scholars to disobey his rules, saying he would "shoot 'em out of them." As for the names he signed to his hand-bill, I can prove several good men whose names appeared in it who will swear that they neither signed nor authorized him to sign it for them. This bill was taken up like a recommendation of himself he went to Henry county for awhile here. When he brought it back it had the names of several men to it who had been dead two or three years. This I can prove as several gentlemen will swear to it. I would like to see Bentley attempt to prove his klunking charge as he will have a chance to sign a lie bill.
